Bash to the Future!

The 33rd Annual Bois d’Arc Bash is right around the corner. Your Chamber staff and board have worked extremely hard to bring you the best Bash yet. This year’s Bash lineup includes live music on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, culminating with Commerce’s own rocking Nevermind and our feature headliner Chris Colston to round out Saturday night. Our Bash carnival promises a great time for young and old alike with rides for all ages. You can shop til you drop, eat to your hearts content, and enjoy beautiful downtown all in one stop.

Our Bash to the Future sponsors have allowed us to build an incredible Bash weekend. Without our Chamber member sponsorships, we would not be able to turn downtown Commerce into a weekend full of fun and entertainment. Our sponsors have allowed your Chamber to create a fun filled, free family friendly event that is attended by thousands from near and far. I am personally grateful for each and every sponsor that has contributed to our Bash, without you our Bash would not be the event of year in Commerce. Thank you for your part in making Bash to the Future the best Bash yet.

I look forward to spending my Bois d’Arc Bash weekend with you!

Best Regards,

COMMERCIAL ALUMNI BIRTHDAY EVENT

The TAMUC Alumni Building was the scene of the Commerce Alumni Birthday Event. Seventy alumni and guests gathered to celebrate the thirty third year of the Commerce Alumni Chapter. The thought and idea to form a chapter had been tossed about for several years. The actual foundation and beginning for Area Chapter came into being in the year of 1985.

The chapter president Ann Julian welcomed the audience and thanked them for attending to help celebrate the event. She presented a brief summary of the volunteer activities performed by members.

The highlight of the Birthday party was the presentation of the chapter gift to Dr. and Mrs. Keck. It was a snow globe that displayed the image of the Kecks on one side and the Heritage House on the other. When shaken, the globe rained gold glitter. We wanted to honor the Kecks for being our leaders and neighbors for the past two years. This was a remembrance gift to assure them that we would never forget their dedication and love for our university.

Some of the financial projects and contributions include scholarships, chapter brick for the alumni area, athletic rings, theater workshops, receptions, ads, care of athletic activities King Pride, and all monetary coverage of expenses that occur. The chapter has been honored by Foundation and included in the Founders Circle, Circle of Pride and Traditions Society for their work and support in all areas of our university studies.

Membership donations are the cornerstone of the organization. We welcome and encourage new members. Our annual membership donations are the same as they were in 1985, $12 for one and $20 for two.

SELF-CARE AWARENESS MONTH KICKS OFF IN SEPTEMBER

By Darian Towner, Prevention Specialist, CPN House of Hope

September is Self-Care Awareness Month. A majority of individuals would likely agree that they take care of themselves daily. The basics are covered, at least: we wake up, go through our morning hygiene routine and attempt to grab some combination of food and caffeine. Later, we grab more food, and then we end our day by giving our body some much-needed rest with a night’s sleep. So, yes, we take care of ourselves. But are we really practicing self-care?

The English Oxford Dictionary defines self-care as “the practice of taking an active role in protecting one’s own well-being and happiness, in particular during periods of stress.”

By this definition, we must ask ourselves if we are actually taking an active role in protecting our well-being and happiness. Taking an active role indicates a specific and ongoing time where we don’t place ourselves on the back burner, but instead consciously decide to pause and de-stress from the craziness of our packed schedules.

The unfortunate thing about stress is that it finds a way to come out, one way or another. If we are not allowing ourselves time in our daily schedules to release that pent up stress, then our bodies will find a way to release it. The physical effects could show themselves through headaches, increased heart rates, troubled breathing or stomach ulcers, among a plethora of other symptoms, according to the American Psychological Association Help Center.

Knowing this, how can we practically implement self-care into our lives? The answer is quite simple: find hobbies that make you happy, things that fill your cup each day and activities that you just cannot wait to do! After you’ve chosen your self-care method, then make it a habit. Commit to doing that activity each day for 30 days, and see if you notice a difference in your overall happiness and stress level by the end of the month.

Starting self-care can prove to be difficult, so we thought we would provide you with a list of some of the self-care habits our staff has committed to: reading, quality time with friends and family, beading, walking or exercising, time with pets, dancing at powwows, time at the lake with loved ones, getting a massage or pedicure, watching a favorite movie, and focused breathing and stretching. If none of these piqued your interest, that’s okay as long as you choose your own habit and commit to having it each day on your calendar.

The National Association of Mental Illness describes self-care wonderfully: “To be able to care for the people you love, you must first take care of yourself. It’s like the advice we’re given on airplanes: put on your oxygen mask before trying to help someone else with theirs.”

Prioritizing yourself may feel foreign at first, but the results can powerfully shape your future.
