Chamber Members,

Commerce is represented well with our incoming members to represent the 2018 Chamber Board.

Officers were announced at the February meeting; President Jeannie Creed, Vice President Teena Ayers, Secretary Vivian Chaffin, and Treasurer Marie Humphries. We are appreciative of our board members and their volunteer efforts to promote all business in Commerce. Commerce Texas is an incredible place to stay, play, and live and our board members live this motto daily.

Our Chamber Banquet Committee is tying up the loose ends for the 109th Chamber Banquet. Raffle items are rolling in, gaming tables are set, and we have a few surprises in store for attendees. We still have available advertising space available for your business. The Chamber is currently seeking nominations for Citizen of the Year 2017, Golden Service Award 2017, Distinguished Community Service Award 2017, and Agriculturist of the Year 2017. Email info@chamber-commerce.com for information regarding nominations or pick up nomination forms at the Chamber office. Tickets are selling now, be sure to contact the Chamber for yours and join us March 8th at the Rayburn Student Center.

Thank you for your part in making Commerce a great place to be!

DR. BETTY BLOCK NAMED FELLOW OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR KINESIOLOGY IN HIGHER EDUCATION FOR HER LEADERSHIP AND SERVICE

On January 4, 2018, Dr. Betty Block, professor of Kinesiology in the Department of Health and Human Performance at Texas A&M University-Commerce, was named the 25th Fellow of the National Association for Kinesiology in Higher Education.

A National Association for Kinesiology in Higher Education (NAKHE) Fellow is one of the acknowledged leaders in the field of kinesiology who has the added distinction of providing ten or more years of outstanding service to the organization.

“Her leadership, service and scholarly contributions have extended beyond the field of kinesiology to her home institution, community, and beyond,” said Ron Feingold, Chair, Fellows Committee, NAKHE. “These contributions bring distinction to her university and the profession of kinesiology.”

The NAKHE is the oldest academic society in kinesiology solely focused on higher education and professional development issues. Scholars from all over the world come together annually to examine issues of importance to the discipline and profession, and its publications provide a forum for the discussion of ideas that are important to kinesiology.

“I’m honored and humbled to receive one of the highest honors that the colleagues in my field can bestow,” said Dr. Block, who was given the fellowship for her ongoing commitment to NAKHE leadership, scholarship, and the training of young professionals in Kinesiology in higher education.

EARTH-KIND® TEAM NAMED AS FINALIST FOR TEXAS ENVIRONMENTAL EXCELLENCE AWARD

Derald Harp’s Earth-Kind® team was named a 2017 Finalist for the Texas Environmental Excellence Award, the highest environmental honor given by the State of Texas. Harp, Professor of Horticulture in the School of Agriculture, is a member of the Texas A&M Extension National Earth-Kind Environmental Initiative Team.

“This recognition also makes us prounder of the fact that we’ve recently submitted a grant proposal that would make A&M–Commerce the primary university for Earth-Kind® research,” said Harp.

The team is composed of Texas A&M Extension educators, research scientists, nursery/landscape industry leaders, governmental officials and plant society members. Earth-Kind® Landscaping is an environmental research and educational program of the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service.

“The years of applied Earth-Kind® research...numerous Earth-Kind® publications in scientific journals, and Earth-Kind® presentations at regional and national scientific meetings have established an impressive reputation for Dr. Derald Harp, and Texas A&M University – Commerce, as...leaders in research-based environmental landscape management,” said Steve George, Professor, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service and Department of Horticultural Sciences.
SEARCH COMMITTEE NAMED TO FIND CANDIDATES TO BECOME NEXT PRESIDENT OF TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY-COMMERCE

Texas A&M University System Chancellor John Sharp announced Monday, February 5, that a 13-member committee has been created to conduct a national search for the next President of Texas A&M University-Commerce.

The committee includes two members of The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents and representation from the faculty, students and administrators at A&M-Commerce, as well as several community leaders from the region.

The search committee will screen and interview candidates over the next several weeks and is charged with recommending no fewer than three finalists to the Texas A&M University System Board of Regents.

In January, outgoing A&M-Commerce President Ray Keck announced his intention to step down by August 31, 2018. The regents hope to have a finalist selected to succeed President Keck in time to ensure a seamless transition.

“Selecting the next president of A&M-Commerce is not only critical for the future of the institution, but also for the well-being of the community and region,” said Chancellor Sharp. “I want to thank these individuals for volunteering their time for this important task.”

The members of the search committee are:

- Bill Mahomes (Chair), Regent
  The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents
- Tim Leach, Regent
  The Texas A&M University System Board of Regents
- Chuck Arize, Regents Professor of Business Administration
  Texas A&M University-Commerce

Julia Ballenger, Professor of Educational Leadership
Texas A&M University-Commerce

Alicia Curin, Vice President for Business and Administration
Texas A&M University-Commerce

Jeremy Gamez, Staff Council President
Texas A&M University-Commerce

Andrea Graham, Assistant Professor of Engineering
Texas A&M University-Commerce

LaVelle Hendricks, Associate Professor of Counseling
Texas A&M University-Commerce

Chad King, Faculty Senate President
Texas A&M University-Commerce

Senator Ted Lyon, Attorney
Ted B. Lyon & Associates

Josh Skinner (Ex Officio), Student Body President
Texas A&M University-Commerce

Graham Sweeney, Superintendent
Boles Independent School District

Ken Threlkeld, Threlkeld & Company Insurance

Assisting the search committee will be James Hallmark, Texas A&M System Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs, and Laurie Wilder and Porsha Williams, consultants with Parker Executive Search, an Atlanta-based search firm.

DR. CORNEL WEST TO BE FEATURED AT A&M-COMMERCE RAYBURN SPEAKER SERIES EVENT

A&M-Commerce has announced the return of intellectual, author, and activist Dr. Cornel West on Monday, March 19, 2018, as part of The Sam Rayburn Speaker Series.

Dr. West will discuss “What #MeToo, Militarism and Money Can't Buy,” touching on trends in current events related to social justice and democracy. He will speak in Ferguson Auditorium from 11 a.m. to noon, in a free event open to the public.

A&M-Commerce was one of several universities and institutions Dr. West visited during The Justice Matters Tour, which crossed the country in 2017. While visiting, he noted that education was “taking place at its best here at Commerce.”

A Professor Emeritus at Princeton University, Dr. Cornel West has also taught at Union Theological Seminary, Yale, Harvard, and the University of Paris. He has written 20 books and edited 13, and is best known for his classics, Race Matters and Democracy Matters. Dr. West is a frequent guest on the Bill Maher Show, CNN, C-SPAN, and Democracy Now.
TAMU-C BASKETBALL ALUMNI EVENT

Past, present and future basketball players gathered at the TAMUC Alumni Center on January 27 to celebrate Alumni Day. It was great to see former players and hear their stories of their playing skills at our university. The event was sponsored by the Alumni Office personnel and the Commerce Area Alumni Chapter. Yearbooks, posters, plaques, banners, signs, programs, trophies and other memorabilia were displayed. It was entertaining and fun to hear the stories of the past and compare them with events of the present.

Executive Director of Alumni Engagement Sam Walker, former Men’s Basketball Coach, was the Master of Ceremonies for this event. He welcomed the players and their families. Sam introduced President, Dr. Ray Keck for his welcoming speech. Dr. Keck is an enthusiastic basketball fan and is present for as many games as his schedule allows. He commented on his admiration for our programs and the scholastic achievements of our athletes. Athletic Director Tim McMurray was the next speaker. Tim expressed his appreciation of the programs. He echoed the sentiments of Dr. Keck. Both of these speakers expressed their enthusiasm for this university and its quest for educating students. Men’s Head Coach Jaret Von Rosenberg and Ladies’ Head Coach Jason Burton spoke in support of their programs and athletes. They both have great teams.

KETR Radio Announcer Charlie Chitwood stopped by to visit with players. Charlie is known for his clear and precise broadcasting of our games. He always gives us a detailed look at the players and their stats.

Commerce Chapter members Yvonne Rollins, Jean Klaus, Hoyle and Ann Julian were at the registration tables to welcome former and present players. It was good to get reacquainted with former players and to learn how their education and playing experiences helped them on their pathways to their present successes. It was exciting to visit with present players and have them relate their experiences. All had a great time visiting.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2 WAS NATIONAL WEAR RED DAY*

Did you know...?

Each year, more women die from cardiovascular disease than all cancers combined.
For every woman that dies of breast cancer, there are six that die from heart disease.
Approximately one woman dies every minute from heart disease.
Younger women are twice as likely to die of a heart attack than younger men.
63% of women whom die suddenly from CAD had no prior warning symptoms.

It is important to "know your numbers."

Have your blood pressure, cholesterol, blood sugar, and BMI checked and follow up with your primary care physician regularly.
CHILDREN'S HEALTH AND SAFETY FAIR AT CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

No topic is more important than children's health and safety. This will be the focus of the Children's Health and Safety Fair held at the Children's Museum on Saturday, March 3 from 9:30 to 11:30. Sponsors for the event include Walmart, Hunt Regional Healthcare, Atmos, and Pediatric Center of Greenville. Free admission to the museum will be offered during the time of the Health and Safety Fair.

Although the museum will be open for creative play, exhibits throughout the museum will highlight health and safety. The 8 foot tall Mega Lung will be on display and will provide an opportunity for children to ask questions and have a greater understanding of the importance of a healthy lung. "I enjoy seeing the expression on each child's face as they see the MegaLung for the first time. They become even more interested as they walk through the lung," said Elana Barton, Director of Development.

Ms. Angela Price of the Commerce Police Department will provide children's identification cards. The cards will include fingerprints and pictures of each child. Ms. D'Ann Frank will use oxymeters to compare each child's resting pulse rate to the pulse rate after exercise.

“What could be more important than an event which focuses on the health and safety of our children?” said Sharline Freeman, Director of the Northeast Texas Children’s Museum. “We are excited to offer an event that is so beneficial to children and their parents.” The Children’s Museum and the play areas will be open.

“We appreciate the sponsors for the event and the Children's Activity Book. The sponsorship of Walmart, Hunt Regional Healthcare, Pediatric Center of Greenville, and Atmos make this event possible. We are very appreciative of their support,” said Donna Tavener, Board President.

For more information, call the Northeast Texas Children's Museum at 903-886-6055.

NORTHEAST HUNT COUNTY RETIRED TEACHERS MEETING

President Bettina Zvanut called the meeting of Northeast Hunt County Retired Teachers to order with the Pledge of Allegiance.

Sam Walker, Executive Director of Alumni Engagements, introduced Mike Lamb, Sulphur Springs Superintendent of Schools as the program Speaker. Mr. Lamb earned degrees from our University. He was a large force as an impressive football athlete.

Mr. Lamb presented an informative and educational program for the Retired Teachers of our area in the TAMUC Alumni Building on Tuesday, February 23. Mr. Lamb is a dedicated administrator who shared his views on the Voting Culture of educational programs.

Statistics show that a high percentage of retired teachers vote. Current teachers seem to have a lower percentage of active voters. Mr. Lamb emphasized the importance of voter participation. Education is a high priority in our country. Advice is to study candidates and their platforms and vote wisely.

The audience kept Mr. Lamb over time with many questions. The program was informative, educational and enjoy for all.

Mike Lamb, Sulphur Springs Superintendent
University President Ray Keck addresses a great crowd downtown Commerce to celebrate the National Championship, Lion's football team. This event was specifically to include Commerce in the celebration of their victory in Kansas City. The banner's were done by Personalized Printing and the event was a joint effort with Texas A&M-Commerce, the City of Commerce and the Chamber of Commerce. Thanks to all who support the Athletics and came to wish them well.
